English-Speaking Market 2026–2027 — Transatour Maroc

WELCOME TO MOROCCO

ONE DESTINATION, THREE LANDSCAPES

Morocco brings together, in a single destination, ocean, mountains and desert, ancient imperial cities and fishing villages, labyrinthine souks and monumental gardens. This catalogue presents the private excursions operated by Transatour Maroc, organised by region, for groups and travellers between November 2026 and October 2027.

All excursions include transport and, in most cases, an English-speaking guide. Prices per person vary according to the number of passengers and are detailed for each itinerary.

REGION

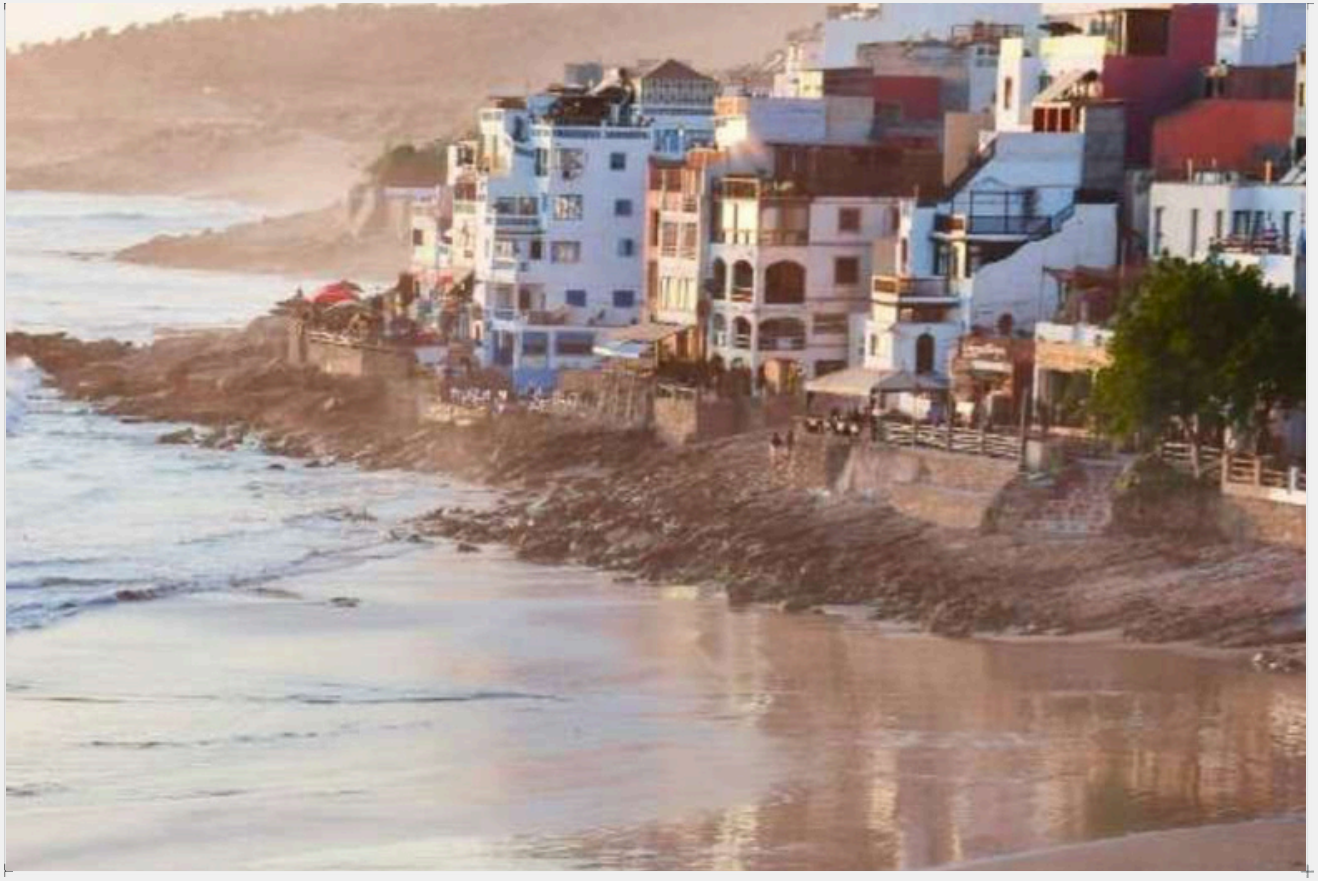
AGADIR

Facing the Atlantic Ocean and blessed with mild weather almost all year round, Agadir has become Morocco's leading beach destination. Rebuilt after the 1960 earthquake, the city combines modern tourist infrastructure with Berber traditions that remain very much alive, offering an excellent base for exploring the south of the country.

Beyond its long stretch of golden sand, Agadir is the starting point for excursions that reveal mountain landscapes, valleys, oases, ancient fortified towns and some of the most authentic routes in southern Morocco.

Agadir

Morocco's seaside resort



This tour presents Agadir's main landmarks, a city that combines a contemporary atmosphere with the region's rich historical heritage.

The itinerary begins at the Kasbah Agadir Oufella, an old fortress built in the early 16th century by the Portuguese, then known as Santa Cruz. Reconquered in 1540 by Sultan Mohammed Cheikh Saadi, the fortification sits on a hilltop about 236 metres above sea level, offering a sweeping view over the bay, the nine-kilometre beach and the whole city.

Imouzzer & Paradise Valley

About 60 kilometres from Agadir, the coastal landscape gives way to the mountains of the Western High Atlas. A winding road leads to Paradise Valley, also known as Green Valley, famous for its streams, natural pools and lush vegetation — a striking contrast with the more arid areas of southern Morocco.

This excursion reveals a lesser-known side of the destination, where small Berber villages, fertile valleys and rural traditions preserve a way of life that has barely changed over generations.

Taroudant

The walled city that preserves the essence of southern Morocco

Known as the "Pearl of the Souss Valley", Taroudant is often compared to a more intimate version of Marrakech. Surrounded by extensive reddish earthen walls and set at the foot of the High Atlas, the city retains an authentic atmosphere, where daily life remains closely tied to local traditions.

Former capital of the Saadi dynasty, Taroudant offers an excellent opportunity to experience Moroccan culture away from the busier tourist centres.

Inezgane, Tafraout & Tiznit

The "Golden Triangle"

This excursion takes in three of southern Morocco's most representative destinations, combining mountain scenery, historic heritage and Berber traditions.

The journey first passes through Inezgane and Tiznit before reaching Tafraout, set at about 1,200 metres of altitude in the heart of the Anti-Atlas. Olive groves, almond trees, semi-arid land and huge pink granite formations create a distinctive landscape that has made Tafraout one of this mountainous region's most iconic destinations.

Taghazout

The fishing and surfing village

Just 17 kilometres north of Agadir, Taghazout keeps the relaxed atmosphere of an old fishing village that, over recent decades, has become one of the world's best-known surfing destinations.

Its long golden beaches, pleasant weather nearly all year round and the famous Atlantic swells draw travellers from around the world, while the town keeps the simple charm of a small seaside community.

This excursion reveals a laid-back side of Morocco, where nature, ocean and quality of life come together in a setting very different from the imperial cities.

CASABLANCA

The country's largest city and its main financial and economic centre, Casablanca represents Morocco's most cosmopolitan side.

Though often associated with the classic film that made it internationally famous, the city has its own identity. Wide avenues, elegant residential neighbourhoods, intense commercial activity and architecture blending Art Deco, Moorish and contemporary influences make Casablanca an important counterpoint to the imperial cities.

Shopping in Casablanca

Casablanca can be discovered from different perspectives. This experience combines the city's historic heritage with its more modern neighbourhoods, revealing the cultural diversity that defines Morocco's largest metropolis.

The tour begins in the traditional Habous neighbourhood, an important hub of local craftsmanship, home to shops specialising in:

- fabrics
- traditional clothing
- jewellery
- leather goods
- babouches
- Moroccan handicrafts

The visit then continues through the old medina and the former Jewish quarter, preserving important traces of the city's multicultural history.

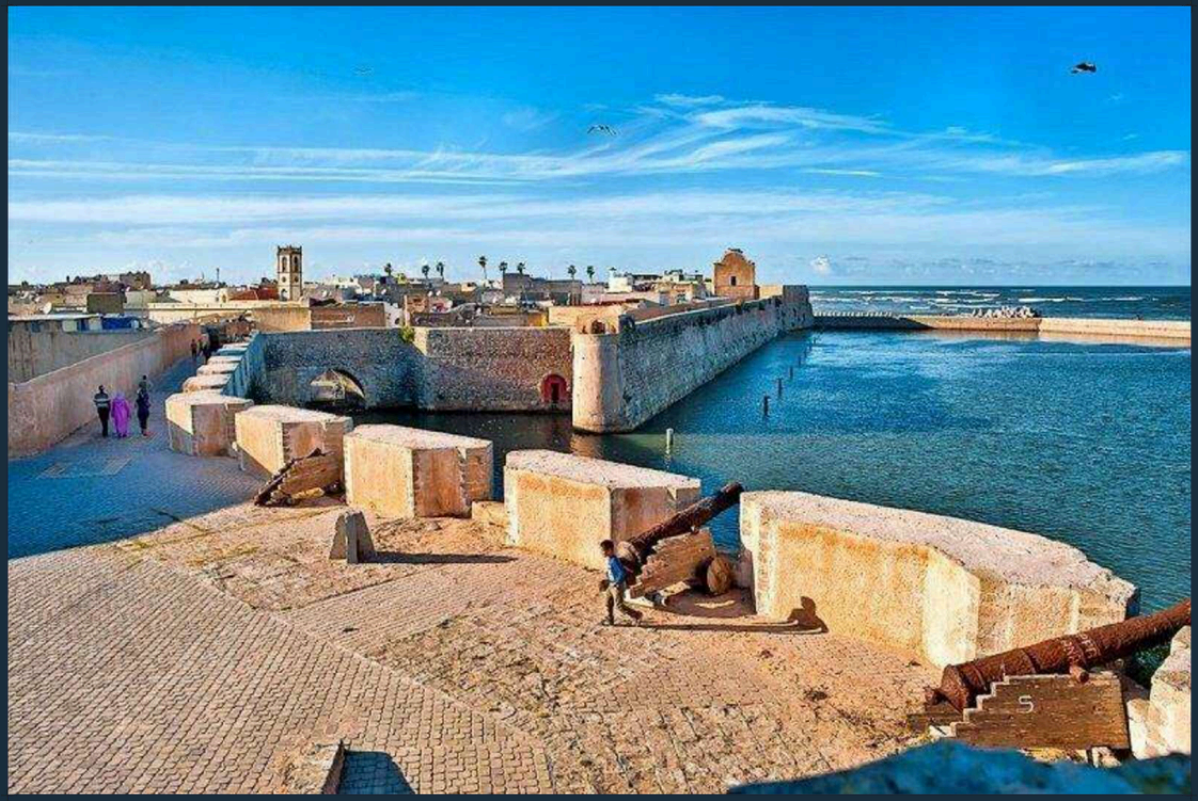
EL JADIDA

Facing the Atlantic Ocean, El Jadida holds a singular place in Morocco's history. Known during the Portuguese period as Mazagan, the city preserves one of the most important fortified complexes built by the Portuguese in North Africa, now recognised as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Beyond its historic heritage, El Jadida has become an important agricultural, industrial, university and tourist centre, offering a different perspective from the traditional imperial cities.



El Jadida

The "Portuguese City" on Morocco's Atlantic coast

Strategically located at one of the best anchorages on the Atlantic coast, Mazagan was occupied by the Portuguese in 1502 and remained under their rule until 1769. After the Portuguese population was evacuated to Brazil — where Nova Mazagão was founded — the city passed to the control of Sultan Mohammed ben Abdallah and was given the name El Jadida.

The tour takes in the main landmarks of the old fortified city, offering insight into the military and commercial importance this port held over several centuries.

RABAT

Administrative capital of the Kingdom of Morocco, Rabat brings together monuments spanning different periods of the country's history while also hosting Morocco's main government institutions.

On the banks of the Bouregreg River, the city retains an elegant atmosphere, marked by vast gardens, historic walls and important architectural ensembles recognised by UNESCO.

Rabat

The capital where historic heritage meets political power

The tour begins at the Kasbah of the Oudayas, an old fortress built in a commanding position over the mouth of the Bouregreg River. The itinerary then takes in the city's main historic monuments, including:

- the Chellah Necropolis
- the Almohad Walls
- the Hassan Tower
- the Mausoleum of Mohammed V
- the medina
- the Bouregreg River estuary
- scenic viewpoints over the city

After lunch at a local restaurant, the tour continues through the capital's most representative neighbourhoods before returning.

FEZ

Among the imperial cities, Fez holds a unique place. Founded in the 8th century, it became one of the great religious, cultural and intellectual centres of the Islamic world, and it still preserves one of the largest inhabited medieval medinas on the planet, recognised as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

More than a collection of monuments, getting to know Fez means stepping into a city where craftsmanship, gastronomy, architecture and tradition remain woven into the daily life of its people.

Fez

The spiritual heart of Morocco

The tour winds through the maze of streets of the old medina, where each district preserves crafts passed down through generations. Highlights include:

- the traditional souks
- craft workshops
- the famous tanneries
- spice shops
- traditional pastry shops
- perfumeries
- copperwork
- leather goods

The visit also includes the exterior of the Al Quaraouiyine Mosque and University, founded in 859 by Fatima al-Fihri and considered one of the oldest continuously operating universities in the world.

Fassi Gala

An evening dedicated to Fez's culinary and musical traditions

As night falls, Fez reveals an atmosphere quite different from the one experienced during the day. Behind the discreet doors of old medina palaces, traditions passed down through generations are still kept alive, making hospitality one of the most striking features of Moroccan culture.

The Fassi Gala invites guests to discover this intangible heritage through an experience combining gastronomy, architecture and traditional music in a setting that reflects the elegance of the former imperial capital. More than just dinner, it is an opportunity to experience one of the most authentic expressions of Fez's cultural identity.

Meknes & Volubilis

The legacy of the Roman Empire and an elegant imperial city

This excursion brings together three important chapters of Moroccan history in a single day: Volubilis, the country's most important preserved Roman city; Moulay Idriss, one of Morocco's leading Islamic pilgrimage sites; and Meknes, an imperial city that reflects the grandeur of Sultan Moulay Ismail's reign.

The first stop is Volubilis, Morocco's most important Roman archaeological site and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Its paved streets, monumental columns, temples, aristocratic houses and preserved mosaics bear witness to the prosperity of the ancient city.

Ifrane

The "Switzerland of Morocco"

Leaving Fez towards the Middle Atlas, the landscape gradually transforms. Plains give way to cedar forests, natural lakes and small mountain towns that reveal a side of Morocco quite different from the imperial cities and the desert.

The first stop is Sefrou, a traditional farming town at about 850 metres of altitude, known for hosting the historic Cherry Festival. The route continues to Bhalil, a small village famous for its old cave dwellings carved into the rock.

As the road climbs, extensive cedar forests appear, announcing the arrival at Azrou, an important Berber community known for its woodwork and carpet production.

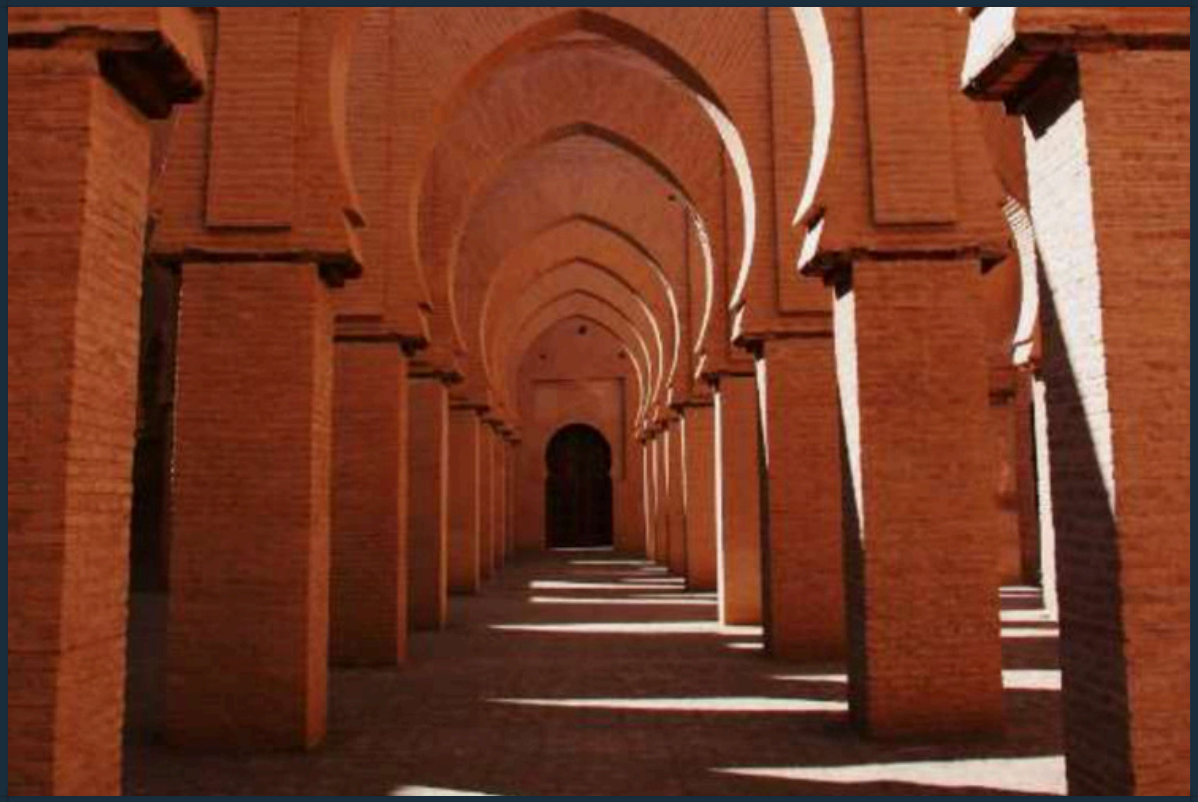
MARRAKECH

After Fez, Marrakech is the second-oldest of Morocco's imperial cities and one of the country's most fascinating. Founded by the Almoravids in the late 11th century, it became an important political, commercial and cultural centre.

Known as the "Pearl of the South", Marrakech offers a unique combination of historic heritage, monumental gardens, palaces, traditional markets and a lively urban energy that reveals itself at every stage of the visit.



Marrakech

The Pearl of Southern Morocco

This full-day excursion presents the city's main historic symbols, taking visitors through some of the most representative monuments of the former Almoravid capital. The itinerary includes a visit to:

- the Koutoubia Mosque (exterior visit, in accordance with local religious rules)
- the Menara Gardens
- the Saadian Tombs
- the Bahia Palace

The Gardens of Marrakech

Majorelle Garden

Far beyond its palaces and the bustle of the medina, Marrakech is also known for its historic gardens, true havens of tranquillity that reveal another side of the city.

Located in the Guéliz district, the Majorelle Garden was created in 1924 by French painter Jacques Majorelle, son of the renowned furniture designer Louis Majorelle, one of the leading names of French Art Nouveau. The garden holds an extraordinary botanical collection featuring:

- cacti
- yuccas
- coconut palms
- giant bamboo
- bougainvillea
- orange trees
- many other ornamental species

The High Atlas by 4x4

Mountains, Berber villages and breathtaking scenery

This experience takes travellers beyond Marrakech, following some of the most beautiful roads of the High Atlas aboard 4x4 vehicles. Throughout the day, valleys, small Berber villages and mountain scenery reveal a rural, authentic Morocco where local hospitality remains intact.

The route crosses the valleys of the Asni region, among centuries-old olive trees and small Berber communities. A stop at a local home offers a pleasant moment of connection, with a tasting of traditional mint tea served with homemade Berber bread and olive oil produced in the area.

OUARZAZATE

Known as the "Hollywood of Africa", Ouarzazate brings together historic kasbahs, desert scenery and some of the world's most important film studios — the Pearl of the South and Morocco's cinematic capital.

Ouarzazate

The Pearl of the South and Morocco's cinematic capital

The excursion begins at the Taourirt Kasbah, considered one of the best-preserved adobe fortresses in the country.

A visit to the Atlas Studios is optional, subject to availability and payment of the relevant entrance fee. The complex has served as a backdrop for international films and series such as:

- Lawrence of Arabia
- Gladiator
- The Mummy
- Asterix & Obelix
- Cleopatra
- The Ten Commandments

The tour then continues to the legendary Kasbah of Aït Ben Haddou, located about 30 kilometres before Ouarzazate and recognised as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. After lunch, return to Ouarzazate.

Skoura

The largest historic palm grove in the Ouarzazate region

Located about 40 kilometres east of Ouarzazate, Skoura is home to one of southern Morocco's most important palm groves, where thousands of date palms grow alongside old, still-inhabited kasbahs and traditional farmland.

Covering about 25 km² and home to roughly 138,000 date palms, Skoura is one of the few historic palm groves in the country that remains both productive and inhabited.

The highlight of the visit is the Amridil Kasbah, considered one of Morocco's best-preserved adobe fortresses. The excursion also includes a tea stop at a Berber home, offering closer contact with local hospitality and the scenery of the oasis.

OUARZAZATE

Dinner Under the Tents at Fint Oasis

An evening of Berber tradition under the starry skies of southern Morocco

Just a few kilometres from Ouarzazate, Fint Oasis offers a unique setting for an experience combining hospitality, gastronomy and desert traditions.

The 4x4 transfer takes visitors to a camp set up within the oasis, carefully prepared with Berber-inspired tents, traditional rugs and décor typical of the region.

On arrival, guests are welcomed by hosts in traditional dress, forming a torch-lit corridor leading to the main area of the camp. While traditional mint tea and dates are served around the campfire, folk groups perform traditional music and dance ahead of dinner.

Zagora

The gateway to the Sahara

Known as the last major town before the Sahara Desert on the old caravan route to Mali, Zagora offers one of the most authentic experiences in southern Morocco.

The excursion crosses arid landscapes, oases and small traditional communities on the way to Zagora, offering insight into the region's historic role as a crossing point for trans-Saharan caravans.

The 4x4 route crosses Agdz and Tinfou before reaching Zagora, including a visit to the traditional Tamegroute library, known for preserving ancient Islamic manuscripts. After lunch at a restaurant typical of the region, photo stops are planned along the way before returning to Ouarzazate.

TANGIER

Located at the northern tip of Morocco, on the shores of the Strait of Gibraltar, Tangier occupies a strategic position between Europe and Africa — the "City of the Strait", where the Mediterranean meets the Atlantic.

Over the centuries, the city has been a meeting point for different peoples and cultures, becoming the setting for stories, legends and events dating back to antiquity. Its cosmopolitan atmosphere has inspired artists, writers and intellectuals from many nations.

Tangier

Where the Mediterranean meets the Atlantic

The excursion takes in some of the city's main attractions, including:

- the Medina
- the Grand Socco
- Mendoubia Park
- the new town
- the Cervantes Theatre (exterior visit)
- Cape Spartel
- the famous Caves of Hercules

At the end of the experience, return to the hotel.

Tetouan

Morocco's fascinating north

Capital of the former Spanish Protectorate in northern Morocco until 1956 and known as "The White Dove", Tetouan preserves a distinctly Andalusian and Hispano-Moorish identity.

The itinerary includes Hassan II Square, home to the Royal Palace, the Jewish quarter — the Mellah —, the souk and the medina. The tour continues through the city's distinctive architecture, marked by ceramics, decorative details and Spanish-influenced balconies. Highlights include the Khalifa Palace, built in the 17th century during the reign of Moulay Ismail.

Asilah

The peaceful walled town on the Atlantic

Located about 45 kilometres south of Tangier, Asilah is a whitewashed town surrounded by walls and facing the Atlantic Ocean. Its heritage brings together Roman, Spanish and Portuguese influences.

The blue, green and yellow doors, the streets of the medina and the ensemble of bastions, towers and walls create a particularly pleasant setting for walks by the sea.

Chefchaouen

The "Blue City"

Set in a valley surrounded by the Rif Mountains, Chefchaouen — whose name means "two horns" — is known for its wide palette of blues, which visually blend the town with the sky and the surrounding mountains.

The excursion reveals the town's Andalusian and Jewish heritage, preserved in its neighbourhoods, fountains, squares and traditional workshops. The tour includes the Jewish quarter and the Andalusian quarter, built by the first Andalusians who arrived in the region after the Reconquista.
